Editor's Note

"Most times, the worst of situations can become a compass to the best of situations."

I journey through life by this quote. The melancholic moments and troubling situations in life always pass. "This too shall pass", happiness and hard times. Why would you stay at one place when you can laugh and just move forward?

Dreams push us to be better and difficult circumstances hold us from moving forward. Our times have revealed a huge number of people fighting depression. We have a number of people around us whose happy facades mask despair. Have we opened our eyes towards the ones around us? Have we ignored the facades while drowning in our joy? Have we turned to ourselves to ask if we are happy? I request the ones reading this note to be a compass. A compass who navigates through hard times, who guides themselves and the ones around them to happiness.

Let us be each other's compasses. Let us ride on the roller-coasters together and prevent our friends from falling.

I would like to thank my dearest friends, Varsha and Megha who were my compasses while working on our magazine and who walk me through the challenges in my life. I appreciate and thank everyone who had guided me in my journey as the magazine editor.

"Compass" points at our talents, our imaginations and dreams. I hope that this magazine serves as a compass to the art and aspirations in us.

COLLEGE ANTHEM

Lead Kindly Light

Lead kindly light, amid the encircling gloom,
Lead Thou me on!

The night is dark and I am far from home,
Lead Thou me on!

Keep Thou my feet; I do not ask to see
The distant scene, one step enough for me.

I was not ever thus nor pray'd that Thou
Shouldst lead me on.

I loved to choose and see my path, but now
Lead Thou me on!

I loved the garish day and spite of fears,

Pride ruled my will; remember not past years.
So long Thy power hath blest me, sure it still will lead me on

O'er moor and fen, O'er crag and torrent, till the night is gone;

And with the morn those angel faces smile
Which I have loved long since and lost awhile.

Student Editors and a vibrant student team is involved in the making of the college magazine every year, from its start to finish.

Editor's Note

"Reality simply consists of different points of view." True to these words, the vignettes of this magazine contain perspectives of writers on a gamut of issues, ranging from pensive reflections about the COVID-19 pandemic to the conundrums of the digital age, thus offering readers the choice to reflect, challenge or creatively embark on the topics at hand. The multifarious compilation that we have brought under 'Ecospeak' has been an earnest attempt to trace the contours and deeper connotations of ecofeminism. From a barrage of write ups, we have assiduously selected topics that substantiate our theme and the diverse views are placed before you to introspect.

The current patriarchal society uses both Nature and women to meet their needs. Here, ecofeminism explores the connection between feminism and Nature, both being repressed and exploited by society. We have tried to encapsulate the significance of ecofeminism through our magazine as it is knowledge that translates into power. By educating our youth about the prevailing scenario and exploring the state of women and Nature, we encourage the youth to fight against the deleterious mindset of the society.

It is the collective execution of ideas by the editorial team, union members and the stakeholders that has facilitated in the shaping of "Waves of Light- Ecospeak". We hope the magazine will be a treasured artefact in the cultural riches of the college and be a harbinger of the excellence to be scaled by the college in the years to come. We wish all the readers a happy reading.

FILM CLUB

Cinema is by far one of the most effective forces of expression and opinion in the twenty-first century artscape. Cinema moves beyond moving images to embrace life and culture that it reflects in the truest of its sense. Colleges have been, since time and again, the vehicles of change and deliberation. With Trivandrum being the host of International Film Festival Kerala for a decade, the chance of educating the youth with the nuances of cinema is only the most functional of the steps. The idea of introducing a Film Club that elaborates on the scopes of a world beyond to the students of All Saints' college was taken forth by the College union with the complete concurrence from Kerala Chalachithra Academy. The movement was focused on initiating a generation that was in tune with the bold scopes of moving camera and the short film revolution of the generation that intended to make the students pro active.

Cinema is a medium that is beyond the mega-narrative of mainstream industry. The innate scope and magnitude of the cinematic material is often virgin to the unassuming public. All Saints' College aims to bridge this gap by introducing the acclaimed and the lesser known milestones of the film industry at large to the students via the means of Film Club. It aims as providing a quality education to the new generation there by ensuing them into the world of cinema.
